

NYACH Partners Council

COMMON AGENDA

The Common Agenda was developed and signed onto by the NYACH Partners Council as a shared vision and joint approach for change in healthcare workforce development in New York City.

- 1. Ensure that training and education meets the healthcare industry's needs
 - a. Engage industry representatives, intermediaries, and employers in the identification of the industry's labor market needs
 - b. Undertake a clear accounting of supply and demand for occupations to inform program investments to meet industry demands
 - c. Ensure training program models and curricula are aligned with industry's needs
 - d. Provide resources for training in high demand and changing occupations
 - e. Connect workforce development with industry changes and healthcare reform

- 2. Support access to career opportunities and advancement for in-demand occupations for low-income and unemployed individuals
 - a. Design training initiatives that support the needs of the target population
 - b. Ensure that training programs are designed to support high completion and employment outcomes
 - c. Develop work-based learning opportunities
 - d. Encourage and incentivize quality jobs and career pathway opportunities

- 3. Develop multi-stakeholder partnerships and coordination across the healthcare workforce system
 - a. Build the capacity of the training and workforce development system to deliver industry informed services and programs
 - b. Facilitate communication across industry, education, philanthropy, and city government
 - c. Align and blend public and private funding

- 4. Serve as a platform to inform educational programming, policy, and advocacy
 - a. Conduct robust evaluations of training initiatives and promote successful models
 - b. Define and spread best practices for curricula and training
